

Dr. Ward Liable for Fraud Upon Patient; Must Repay $100 Fee

Justice Marks Decides Against "Electro-Scientist," Who Took Man's Money After Promise of Cure in Month

Francis R. Ward, director of the so-called "Electro-Medical Scientists," with offices at 6 Pierrepont Street, Brooklyn, and 230 West Seventy-second Street, Manhattan, was held liable yesterday by Justice Marks, in the Sixth District Municipal Court, in an action for fraud and deceit brought by Julius B. Grond, a former patient. This is the same Ward who seeks half a million dollars damages against The Tribune because, in his libel suit, he alleged, The Tribune published, in April, a series of articles charging him with quackery, false advertising and profiteering.

Grond alleged the fraud and deceit consisted of representations that Ward would cure him of a malady within one month, on the strength of which he paid $100, "which representations were untrue and known to be untrue by the defendant." Grond gave testimony in support of those allegations at the hearing. Dr. Ward and one of his physicians testified for the defense, denying generally the charges, the former admitting that he rarely treats patients personally, although his name appears prominently as "medical director in the 'scientists'" advertisements in several New York and Brooklyn newspapers, which were replete with references to "positive diagnoses," "remarkable efficacy of electro-medical methods" and "treatment of chronic diseases."

Justice Marks announced his decision in favor of Mr. Grond from the bench immediately at the close of the hearing. Judgment was awarded for $100 and costs.

Charles A. Oberwager, of 233 Broadway, who represented Grond, said the victory was complete, and, in the nature of a test case, established the principle that money paid in such circumstances can be recovered under the law in this state. Ward's attorneys were Rieble & Moxley, 68 William Street, the same lawyers who brought his libel suit against The Tribune, in which he complains specifically of such statements as "Dr. Ward, called quack, thrives here. Physician who quit Chicago when associates were indicted doing a big business in New York. Diseases found for sound patients. Big profits in medicine for Dr. Ward Rieble & Moxley, 68 William Street, New York City, who have established, yields from 2,000 to 6,000 per cent profit. Fee has part in diagnosis of Dr. Ward. How much money have you got?" is one of the questions put to patients by electro-medical scientists. Metal, glass or bone no bar to Ward's X-ray."

The Tribune's answer in the libel suit is in course of preparation.

Boy Scouts' Campaign Is Big Success

Whirlwind Finish of Drive Sets All Doubts at Rest; People of Every Section Give Help to Movement

Many Last Hour Offerings

Every Mail Brings Checks; Appreciation Expressed by McAdoo and Edwards

HE Boy Scout campaign for a $1,000,000 fund and an adult membership of 350,000 in New York City was a great success from every angle, officials of the organization declared last night at the close of the drive.

"I suppose that was due to any number of reasons. We have had a lot of drives recently, and the public as a whole perhaps has gotten a little tired. For that reason the task of arousing them to the necessity of a movement of this kind was a particularly arduous one, but now we see them clamoring to go to the end."

"The best indication of that is the report of the Rainbow Division, which came into the Manhattan canvass committee only this morning, showing that the men of influence and affluence in the community were only too ready to embrace the cause. This is also true of the various business establishments from whom we had not heard. They are sending in checks, and every mail brings in a windfall of donations from every possible source."

Whirlwind Finish

Among the widely known individuals contributing through the Rainbow Division of the Manhattan canvass committee were Vincent Astor, E. H. Gary, Percy Strauss, Mrs. Charles W. Dustin, Menton B. Metcalf, H. M. Crane, Dwight W. Morrow, Charles E. Hughes, George D. Pratt, C. M. Newcombe and Mrs. Whittell Reid. Many other names were added to the list before the close of the campaign last night and several wealthy New Yorkers notified the committee that they would send in checks.

Reports received from other boroughs during the day showed the same whirlwind finish. In many instances citizens who realized that the campaign was nearly over came forward without waiting to be solicited.

Brooklyn's total took a decided bound overnight, and it was predicted that it would exceed the membership quota which the Kings County organization volunteered to raise. Individual subscriptions were coming in more rapidly, and it was believed a more substantial contribution would be made toward the fund than was thought possible.

In the Bronx practically the same situation prevails as in Brooklyn, while in Queens it was announced by Clarence M. Lowes that his borough had attained its quota, but was not slowing up until the end of the drive. Richmond was progressing in the right direction, practically the entire adult population having enlisted in the Boy Scout movement.

Gov. Smith Would Give Non-Resident Exemption on Tax

Tells New Jersey Governor That Next Legislature Can Remedy the Income Act to Prevent Any Injustice

Special Correspondence

ALBANY, June 18.—The failure to allow non-residents earning their incomes in this state the same exemption as residents should be corrected in the new income tax law at the next session of the Legislature, Governor Smith said today in a letter to Governor Runyon of New Jersey. He thought this would be done before the next payment of the tax next March.

Governor Smith protesting against what he called the discriminatory provisions in the income tax law and saying New Jersey people were already urging decisive retaliatory action. He asked for action at the extra session.

Governor Smith's reply said:

"There seems to me to be one possible injustice and one error in the provisions of the New York income tax acts applied to non-residents. Provision should be made for the $1,000 and $2,000 exemptions to apply to non-residents, provided an equal exemption is not granted in the place of their residence. By inadvertence also, the withdrawal agent in the case of the non-resident pays his tax directly, to deduct 2 per cent in the case of income under $10,000, whereas the tax under another section of the bill is fixed at 1 per cent for incomes under $10,000. This error in the bill, as well as the possible injustice above mentioned, can be corrected, and should be corrected, at the beginning of the next legislative session in January, two months before the first tax must be paid."

"We have sought in the provisions to make the act both friendly and reciprocal. The act provides that non-residents shall have abated to them any tax on New York income which may be imposed by the state of the taxpayer's residence, providing the home state of the taxpayer treats New Yorkers in a substantially similar way."

Obituary

THE REV. DR. LEA LUQUER

The Rev. Dr. Lea Luquer, after whose family Luquer Street, Brooklyn, was named, died Tuesday in the rectory of St. Matthew's Protestant Episcopal Church, Bedford, N. Y., of which he had been rector for six years. Dr. Luquer was born in Luquer Street eighty-seven years ago, a member of one of the oldest families of New York, whose ancestors, French Huguenots, settled in the village of Bushwick, now part of New York. His father was a noted horseman and his mother was the daughter of Dominick Lynch, who introduced Italian opera in this country. Dr. Luquer is survived by two sons, Professor Lea M. Luquer, professor of mineralogy at Columbia University, and Colonel Thatcher T. Luquer, of the 360th U. S. Engineers.

ISAAC DEUTSCH

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—Isaac Deutsch, who was under indictment for the murder of a policeman during the primary election riots in the Fifth Ward of this city on September 19, 1917, dropped dead yesterday on the street near his home. He had recently been sentenced in connection with election riots, when he was running in opposition to the faction of Senator Boies Penrose for the Select Council. He was a Common Councilman of the Fifth Ward, which was known as the "Bloody Fifth," after the death of the policeman who was guarding the polls, and was alleged to be a gunman. It was alleged that Deutsch and the Mayor of Philadelphia, Thomas B. Smith, had conspired to have him killed and had brought on gunmen from New York.

GEORGE R. KINNEY

George Romanta Kinney, fifty-three, the founder, president and treasurer of the G. R. Kinney company, a large shoe firm, died Tuesday at his home, 701 East Seventeenth Street, Flatbush. Mr. Kinney was the owner of sixty-two large retail shoe stores in the principal cities of the United States. He was one of the first employers to share his profits with his employees.

DAVID WILSON ALLEN

The body of David Wilson Allen, sergeant trumpeter of the 105th Field Artillery, who died Monday at Newport News, Va., of influenza, was brought to his home, 449 Park Avenue, yesterday. He will be buried in Woodlawn Cemetery Friday with military honors. He was stricken with influenza at Brest and was unable to return with his unit.

Speaking of Rights

Men scoffed at the notion that aeroplanes could span the broad Atlantic in a few hours' flight. But now the flight is accomplished and the triumphant Read, Alcock and Brown are the heroic pioneers of what soon will be daily events.

A SHORT FLIGHT TO ECONOMY

And men there are who scoff at the suggestion that Clothes Satisfaction is so short a flight away as is measured by the few minutes it will take them to make their way to the nearest Monroe Clothes Shop. Yet thousands of young fellows have hopped off, landed safely and are smiling from ear to ear in the enjoyment of quality fabrics, faultless fit, snappy style and everything else in a Summer Suit that sends a man swinging along in the vigorous stride that only a well-dressed man can take.

And every last fellow of the lot finds money enough left—after paying the easy price—to carry him across for more.

It's All in the Hop-Off!

The flight is short beyond imagining, and satisfaction such as you've only dreamed of is just at the head of the stairs.

Although the final returns are not in, due to the difficulty of making tabulations, it was predicted that hopes for a successful campaign would be more than realized.

William G. McAdoo, chairman of the Citizens' National Committee of the Boy Scouts Campaign, said last night:

"In all of its essentials the Boy Scout campaign has been a great success. We are confident that the 1,000,000 associate members we set out to secure have been obtained, but it is impossible at the moment to give figures because the returns from the country have not been received. Some communities report large over-subscriptions. Full returns have not been received from the five boroughs of New York City, but we feel confident that, as a result of Boy Scout week, New York will raise her quota of associate memberships."

People Everywhere Aid

"In behalf of the officers of the Boy Scouts of America and in behalf of all the boys of America who will be benefited by this great movement, I desire to thank all those who have contributed so generously to the movement."

247 Seek to Enlist in Army Here in One Day

Recruiting Officers Accept 94 Applicants, Largest Number Since Armistice

More men were enlisted in the United States Army by the New York recruiting officers on Tuesday than on any other day since the armistice, it was announced yesterday. Out of 247 applicants on Tuesday 94 were accepted for service.

Officers ascribed the increase to the advertising and publicity campaign for recruits that was begun on Monday, and which will continue for two weeks. Posters, describing the advantages of army life have been placed in windows and on street signboards, and advertisements for recruits have been inserted in the newspapers for the first time in the history of the army.

The campaign is being conducted under the direction of Colonel J. T. Connelley, who is in command of the recruiting office at 401 Eighth Avenue. Captain F. Y. Keeler is director of advertising.

Many of the new recruits are joining the army because they can get no jobs, the officers say. Others are attracted by the opportunities to see Europe and the chance to get an education at the expense of the government.

Gas Recommended as Sporic for Mexico

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Gas as a means of fighting the war, which man's burden was advocated before the Senate Military Affairs Committee today by Lieutenant Colonel Amos Fries while urging that the Bureau of Chemical Warfare be retained as a permanent independent bureau and not merged in the Engineer Corps.

"I would remind you," he said, "that if the United States is going to have any more of these clean-up jobs like the Philippines, Cuba, Haiti, Santo Domingo and Mexico, the use of gas would simplify the job and make it easier. With it you can pacify without killing. Use tear gas and you put the enemy into such a condition that you can take them as you please, without casualties on either side. It is the humane way. Then, if the situation demands you can use something stronger. If we had had gas in the Moro campaign in the Philippines the stronghold of the Sultan of Jolo could have been taken without loss of life on either side. These backward people know nothing about chemical warfare."

General William L. Sibert, chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, strongly supported Colonel Fries's testimony. Assistant Secretary of War Keppel explained to the committee the department's plan for taking over all warfare work in the army in connection with educational work, and urged that the full $8,000,000 asked for this purpose be allowed. It was not proposed, he said, to eliminate the outside work of auxiliary agencies like the Y. M. C. A., but to have the army exclusively control all such work within military camps and reservations.

Missing Engineer Dead

CARMEI, June 18.—Coroned Rush, of Putnam County, announced today that the body of Horace P. Hunting, the civil engineer who mysteriously disappeared from W. J. Brown's physical culture farm in Garrison's weeks ago, was found hanging from a tree a half mile from the Brown sanitarium. His own shirt and sweater had been torn up to make a noose.

Hunting's home was in Washington, D. C. A general police alarm had been sent over the state giving his description.

IN MEMORIAM

BENNETT—On motion, the following memorial was ordered spread upon the minutes of the meeting of the board of directors of the American Exchange National Bank, held Tuesday, June 17, 1919:

"In the death of Mr. Robert A. Bennett, Assistant Cashier of this institution, we have lost an efficient, conscientious, painstaking officer and a warm and loyal friend."

"Mr. Bennett became associated with the bank nearly thirty years ago, coming in 1891 as the first director of the American Exchange National Bank, which was then known as the American National Bank. He was a man of keen intellect and rare charm, his whole career marked by his faithful service, making for himself and for this institution a host of friends, who held him in the highest respect."

"To his wife and other members of his family we extend our heartfelt sympathy, and as a measure of the esteem and affection in which he was held it is ordered that a copy of this memorial be engrossed and delivered to his family."
